Arrow Intelligent Solutions confirms that we are fully aware of our role and responsibilities under the PPWR, including its entry into force and subsequent requirements, and we are actively working to ensure compliance with all applicable provisions. To this end, we have established a structured and rolling implementation plan to address the requirements entering into force on 12 August 2026, as well as those that will progressively apply thereafter.

Compliance of all packaging materials depends on the availability of accurate Declarations of Conformity and technical information provided by upstream actors in the supply chain, including manufacturers and importers. We are actively in contact with these parties to obtain the necessary data and are closely monitoring progress to ensure readiness by the applicability date.

In addition, we acknowledge our responsibilities under Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) schemes, as applicable. We are committed to fulfill all relevant EPR requirements in the countries where we operate, including registration, reporting, and financing obligations related to packaging waste management. We continuously monitor national implementations of EPR to ensure full compliance and alignment with local regulatory frameworks.
